There is an article and a copy of a letter in the Train Collectors Quarterly, dated January 1996 Vol. 42 No. 1 which outlines the history behind these Voltamp Interurbans. Charles Fitzpatrick's father, Vale Fitzpatrick met with Mr. Fuld, owner of the Voltamp Electric Mfg. Co. in 1915 and was instrumental in working with Mr. Fuld in the design and manufacturing of the Voltamp W.B. and A. Interurban cars. Vale Fitzpatrick requested that the Voltamp factory paint the Interurbans with orange bodies, dark green roofs and letter them with his children's names and their dates of birth.
